Greetings from Your Next Rector,

Hello, people of St. Andrew's!

I am positively elated to be coming to serve with you. I cannot imagine a kinder or more committed vestry and search committee. Working with them has taught me to love you already.

While it was initially family reasons that had me looking to North Carolina, I have come to so deeply appreciate the community of St. Andrew's, your preschool, and outreach programs. One of the things that made me sure that St. Andrew's was the place for me is that we had to relocate our interview because of one of the many community groups that count on your space. That is the sign of a church alive and woven in the fabric of your community.

That kind of ministry is my passion. I am a pastor at heart, but I love to preach and to be involved in the wider communities I serve. I have been a priest for 15 years and I have served the last 11 at St. Aidan's Cypress, TX, a young church with bustling family programs. We've grown in number, expanded our facilities, and become a figurehead in the life of our area.

God is so good to me in my ministry and beyond. I have two boys (9 and 13) who live with their mom down the road in Fuquay-Verina. I am recently (as of early May) engaged to a brilliant and caring woman (the Rev. Becky Zartman) who also happens to be a priest and who will join us out in Rocky Mount as soon as it is practical.

My heart is bursting. I cannot wait to get into the life of this incredible parish as we discover what God is doing through St. Andrew's.

In Christ,
Les Carpenter+

“When Morning Gilds the Skies”

We would not have many of our favorite hymns without the work of skillful translators. When it comes to preparing a poetic translation that will be sung (rather than a literal prose translation), the result is actually a new poetic creation rooted in the meaning of another language.

This is the case with Edward Caswall’s translation of the well-known hymn, “When morning gilds the skies.”

“Beim frühen Morgenlicht” (With the early morning light) is the opening line of the original German hymn. While we are uncertain of the exact origins of the text, it first appeared in Katholiches Gesangbuch für den öffentlich Gottesdienst im Bisthume (Catholic Songbook for Public Worship in the [locale of] Bisthume Würzburg). It appears in an altered version in am 1855 Franconian collection of folksongs, Frankische Völklieder.

Caswall himself made two translations into English, in 1854 and 1858. An altered form of the 1858 version has become standard for most hymnals. May Jesus Christ be praised.

Distinguished English poet and translator Robert Bridges (1844-1930) tried his hand at improving the text, noting in 1899 that, “It is of great merit, and I have tried to give a better version of it than the current one, keeping the original metre, preserving the first lines of the old translation, since it is by them that the hymn is known.”

So the hymn we sing today has 19th-century German roots, with a translation by Caswall (1814-1878), a Roman Catholic converted under the influence of Cardinal Newman and one of the foremost translators of hymns of his era, adapted by Robert Bridges, and set to music by English choirmaster Joseph Barnby (1938-1896).

Congratulations to Joseph Schacht on his marriage to Elizabeth.
St. Andrew’s wishes you well!
